Kia ora koutou

What a fabulous turnout we had for Pet Day last week. Thank you all for supporting your children to make things at home, bring resources to make their display item and for enabling students to bring animals to school. I brought up the subject of pet day with one of our classes today and everyone had something positive to say about it. Really lovely.

I think the highlight for many may have been the Dad's cake auction. Wow! We have an impressive amount of talent out there. There was a pretty high bar set this year with both the quality and amount of cakes we received. I'm really looking forward to next year!

We have athletics day tomorrow so I'm hoping the lack of rain today means the Geraldine Domain fields can drain enough for us to hold it as planned. If you have a tarp, it may be an idea to bring it to sit on for picnic lunches tomorrow just in case the ground is still damp. There is not a lot of sun planned so drying may not happen as quickly as we may like.

Is there anything you'd like to see included in newsletters? Let me know and I'll do my best to get it in here.

See you tomorrow.

Sharon.
